

Build a stronger business with the Level 7 Apprenticeship

For over 130 years, generations of chartered accountants and business professionals have undertaken ICAEW training and come away with the skills and values they need to make a great contribution to their organisations.

You can now offer our globally-recognised qualification, the ACA, on a levy-funded programme - the Level 7 Accountancy Professional Apprenticeship. The apprenticeship incorporates the 15 modules of the ACA, setting students well on their way to chartered accountant status.

The apprenticeship is available to all employers in England, regardless of whether you're paying the apprenticeship levy or not.

Here are the key features of the Level 7 Apprenticeship:

- It takes between 36 - 48 months to complete.
- The apprenticeship retains the key elements of the ACA, including exam modules, practical work experience, professional development and ethical insights.
- Levy-paying employers can claim up to £21,000 per apprentice.
- Non levy-paying employers can also receive up to 95% of government funding, so up to £19,950.
- Available to new or existing staff, school leavers, graduates and non-graduates (ACA entry requirements apply)
- A great option for all organisations - whether in practice, industry or the public sector.
- No employer NI to pay for apprentices under 25 years old, up to earnings of £43,000 a year.

The Level 7 Apprenticeship is a cost-effective way to develop your finance team and make your business stronger. ICAEW training nurtures a wide set of skills and puts emphasis on professional and personal development. Most importantly, it gives businesses the power to grow with confidence.
